

What an exciting Lenten, Holy Week and Easter Season we have just completed. We began our Lenten Journey in the Garden of Eden (Genesis 2-3), talking about the role that she played in the story of the fall of humankind, and reminding ourselves that when we are Playing Hide and Seek with God, God is a master seeker and will always come looking for us, even when we fail, and we fall.

We then jumped into the Gospel of John allowing several biblical characters' meaningful encounters with Jesus guide our season and reflect upon how Jesus meets each one, including us, wherever our we are in our journey of belief. In the story of Nicodemus (John 3), we thought about what it might be like Riding Tandem with Jesus — knowing that riding in the back seat of a tandem bicycle is an act of complete trust and submission. When we try to take control to steady ourselves, or look over Jesus' shoulder, to see where we're going, we bobble and fall off! Tending to our life of faith is a lived experience and believing is an ongoing thing, that requires tending, and attention, and focus. And that's what we're doing here, at church! We work on believing in the kind of life Jesus offers us, together in community week in and week out.

The story of the Samaritan woman was lifted up in Agua de Vida (John 4) as we noticed that in her story, Jesus doesn't have a bucket to drink from, and it is the woman, and us, who have something in our buckets to offer to Jesus. Yes, at times our spiritual wells feel dry and there is nothing but dirt and dust to offer, especially when we've been in survival mode for so many years. I encouraged us as a community to shift our narrative and the questions we are asking. Let's no longer ask ourselves, how do we survive? But rather, what makes us thrive? We meet thirsty strangers, every day, in those interactions, the opportunity for our relationship with a stranger deepens, and in that very same opportunity our relationship with Christ deepens.

We lifted up the powerful story of the man born blind in a dramatic choral reading (John 9), and used the story of my huge bright Pink Glasses I wore as a child to talk about division, sin, separation and the true Belonging that Jesus offers to us, as our authentic, God created selves, encouraging us to be a community of faith that invites and makes space for one another's genuine God breathed, authentic selves.

As we remembered the story of how Jesus' called Lazarus from the grave (John 11), I also told the story of how my son asks me when he is looking forward to something he'll ask me, "Is Today Tomorrow?" Because I think that's the perfect question when we try to wrap our minds around the kind of life that Jesus promises, life abundant, abiding with God. And he's not talking about tomorrow. He's talking about eternal life-right now.

As we approached Holy week, we were invited to Remember the Time . . . the people of Jerusalem lined the streets crying save us . . . "hosanna" (John 12) and I asked the question, do you believe in a God who has the power to save us? This is the question of our faith and our time.

Our Holy week services were meaningful experiences for connection and community. We tried a new thing together for Maundy Thursday and held our worship service around dinner tables in Dodds Hall, celebrating the sacrament of Communion (John 13). Good Friday's service of scripture (John 18-19), prayer, music and the extinguishing of candles was a powerful day of remembrance where many of you participated to make an evocative worship service.

It all culminated on Easter Sunday! We blossomed the cross, our sanctuary was adorned with lilies in memory of loved ones, our renovated Joyful Noise Room was ready, thanks to monumental efforts of the preceding 2 weeks by the buildings and grounds and painting team. Our children sprinted through the sanctuary to share the good news that “Jesus is Alive!” We welcomed seven new members into our church, the children had a joyful easter egg hunt, Marco’s family shared cake in celebration of his confirmation and the hospitality team hosted a lovely fellowship following the worship service. When Mary Magdalene thinks the Risen Christ was the Gardener (John 20), we leaned into that idea, asking how we might invite Jesus to be The Gardner of our own lives. This image gives the God of love a more nurturing tone as the risen Christ — one who tends more lovingly to us, love knows us by name, waters our soil, and tends to our roots. This kind of love pulls out weeds that threaten to overwhelm us, and when we bloom, when we show our truest selves to the world, our gardener rejoices.

Peace,
Pastor Kori

Memorial Garden

As most of the congregation is aware, after many years devoted to caring for the Memorial Garden, Anne and Bob Shelby are retiring from that dedicated work and passing the torch. Their legacy leaves a tremendous need and a wonderful opportunity for an individual or group of individuals to share their time and talent. As with most gardening in this region, work is needed from March through November, making this request rather urgent. A detailed schedule and all other information needed to guide the next caretaker of this special place. Please contact Kevin Maxwell if you are interested in this opportunity to serve. His email address is kmaxwell24@msn.com. His cell number is 301-456-6832.
